File new drawings with the changes incorporated therein. The application number or the title of the invention, inventor's name, serial number (if any) and the name and telephone number of a person to call if the Office is unable to reach the drawings to the proper application, should be placed on the back of each sheet of drawings in accordance with 37 CFR 1.84(c). Applicant may delay filing of the new drawings until receipt of the Notice of Allowability (PTOL-37). Extensions of time may be obtained under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136. The drawing should be filed as a separate paper with a transmittal letter addressed to the Drawing Review Branch.

Applicants are required to submit acceptable corrected drawings within the three-month shortened statutory period set in the Notice of Allowability (PTOL 37). If a correction is determined to be unacceptable by the Office, applicant must arrange to have acceptable correction resubmitted within the original three-month period to avoid the necessity of obtaining an extension of time and paying the extension fee. Therefore, applicant should file corrected drawings as soon as possible.

Abstract—A total of 100,000 benzidine-treated guinea pigs were used in a study to determine the effect of benzidine on the development of the placenta and fetus. The results showed that benzidine treatment caused a significant increase in the number of fetuses per litter, but no significant change in the number of placentas per litter. The results also showed that benzidine treatment caused a significant increase in the number of fetuses per placenta, but no significant change in the number of placentas per fetus. The results of this study suggest that benzidine treatment causes a significant increase in the number of fetuses per litter, but no significant change in the number of placentas per litter. The results also suggest that benzidine treatment causes a significant increase in the number of fetuses per placenta, but no significant change in the number of placentas per fetus.
